- VONBAN, when providing its services in line with Swiss Laws and Regulations, kindly requests you to acknowledge the following Statements and Business Risks:
- VONBAN's website and the related contractual offerings are provided solely at the request of the client;
- VONBAN does not market or promote its services to persons or entities domiciled outside Switzerland. Any non-Swiss prospective client intending to use VONBAN's services are requested to confirm that they have approached VONBAN on their own initiative and that no solicitation, advice, or recommendation was provided prior to such approach;
- VONBAN's services are not directed to any person or entity in any jurisdiction where (by reason of that person's nationality, residence, or otherwise) the publication or availability of VONBAN's website or services are prohibited. Persons accessing VONBAN's website or requesting services from VONBAN do so on their own initiative and are responsible for compliance with all applicable local laws and regulations;
- VONBAN is authorized and regulated as a Financial Intermediary solely under Swiss Laws and is a member of a Swiss Self-Regulatory Organization (SRO). VONBAN does not hold any license or authorization under foreign laws or regulations. By requesting services from VONBAN, you acknowledge that VONBAN is not licensed or authorized in "your" jurisdiction and that you have approached VONBAN without prior solicitation or marketing targeting you;
- VONBAN's business model, services and technologies are exposed to particular risks;
- VONBAN is a regulated Financial Intermediary, accordingly, it cannot operate without the operational risks typical for a Financial Intermediary;
- VONBAN's business model is based on the extensive outsourcing of data processing to selected external partners via the Internet, which VONBAN can only control to a limited extent;
- VONBAN informs you that data transmission via the Internet (e.g., communication via e-mail) can be exposed to security vulnerabilities. The complete protection of your data against access by third parties is not possible;
- VONBAN guarantees the greatest possible data security in accordance with its data Privacy Notice & Data Protection declaration;
- VONBAN always holds your accounts and funds separate from VONBAN's own funds;

- VONBAN is not allowed to accept deposits, grant loans, or pay interest on any balances held on your accounts;
- VONBAN informs you that your Account and Funds are not Supported by any Swiss Deposit Protection Schemes available under Swiss Laws and Regulations, neither by any foreign Laws and Regulations.

Prior to entering into any discussions or relationship with VONBAN, you are urged to read and understand the following policies which are freely found on this website:

- The above Disclaimer
- Website Terms of Use
- General Terms and Conditions
- Privacy Notice and Data Protection
- AML Policy

If any of the above are not understood or not satisfactory, you should refrain from entering into any discussions or initiate any requests for establishing a professional Client relationship with VONBAN. If you are unsure with your decision, you are urged to seek your personal independent guidance, or professional independent advice prior to making any decisions.
